Yesterday's Results
At Northampton—Northampton 6, Bridgeport 1.
At Holyoke—Holyoke 18, Springfield 7.
At Hartford—Hartford 4, Waterbury 1.
At New Britain—New Britain 10, New Britain 8.

Games Today
Bridgeport at Holyoke.
Springfield at New Britain.
Hartford at Waterbury.
Northampton at New Haven.

In Holyoke today.
Gibbs is due to pitch. A victory ought to be ours.

Think of it! Beating them out in the batting almost two to one and then scoring only one run to their six.

Luck again figured in Hartford's victory. Only six hits off Old Man McPartland, but a pass, an error, a single and a two bagger worked the game. That's just the way the Senators have been winning most of their games this season. But there'll come a time when all good things must fade away. Then watch Hartford slump.

School children will be admitted free to the City Officials-Telegram game at Newfield, Thursday.

Tommy Downey's work again figured in a victory for the Cincinnati yesterday. Tom advanced to the bat four times, had a hit and a sacrifice.

TO CODIFY GAME LAWS AND REPEAL INACTIVE STATUTES

To the Editor of the Farmer:—
Sir—Two prominent sportsmen of Connecticut, Messrs. Russell Perkins of Pomfret Centre, and Arthur B. Lapsley of Brooklyn, issued a little while ago a notice to the sportsmen in general of Connecticut, requesting them to attend a meeting called for May 15 to be held at the Allen House of Hartford with a view of organizing a State Sportsman's Association for the Protection of Game and Fish, and for a better enactment of laws that would tend to increase the supply.
The response in person from the eight counties composing the State was most flattering, and the enthusiasm of the delegates foreshadowed most successful results, and it's not going out of our way in prophesying from the expression of feelings and interest manifested on the occasion of these preliminary proceedings that the project is launched under the most favorable auspices of accomplishment, and all that remains to make it a perfect success is the united support of all interested on the subject.
It is little enough to say that this cause is worthy of the deepest consideration of all residential devotees of the gun and rod, and let it be understood that the usefulness of this organization won't stop at the mere fact of producing birds to shoot or fish to catch, as I shall instance in a statement that one of its prime objects is and accepted his four fielding chances cleanly.

Roger Bresnahan, the former Giant backstop, made his debut as a manager at the Polo grounds, yesterday, and carried off a victory over the rejected Giants. Roger was presented with a silver loving cup and at a banquet in the evening with a punch bowl.

It is probable that Bill Powell, sold last season by the Ponies to Pittsburgh, will find his way back to Springfield in a short time, as he has apparently failed to make good. Bill's brother Earl failed to make good in this town.

Home runs are still the features in games at Holyoke. Yesterday six were made off the Springfield pitcher. The fence in Pulpville is just about where the left fielder stands at Newfield Park.

Earl Gardner, the former Hartford player, is laid up with a sprained ankle sustained while sliding to a base in one of last week's game with Jersey City.

It looks as if Manager Hanna has been handed a rather large line in this league. He will be given a chance by Daringer thinking that he was getting the former Hartford player turned over to the Dubuque Three I club. It now looks as if the Daringer bought Hanna from the Des Moines club of the Western League, while Hanna's check governed the Daringer of the Three I League. He will be given a chance, however, to show his worth. There will be some exchanging of checks yet before the deal is completed.

Northampton, with its reorganized outfit, will be at Newfield Park tomorrow. With them are the sluggers of the league, Tony Pastor, old reliable Billum Yale, Eddie Bridges and a number of other stars of balldom. McCarthy will pitch.

a more genial and comprehensive understanding between sportsmen, instructing those in need of a better interpretation and obedience of the laws, promoting socially better and more efficient relations between sportsmen, having superfluous and inactive statutes repealed, and codifying in a concrete form laws producing the greatest efficiency eliminating all possibilities for technical escapes by evaders of the law.

This work may seem a trifle startling, but its accomplishment replete with beneficial results can be easily attained by the co-operative efforts of sportsmen, and their throwing a little enthusiasm in the work that will eventually produce the greatest benefits to the greatest number.

I hope all will view this embryo rally in the same light as the projectors who wisely foresaw the necessity of a parent organization with its wider scope and more powerful influences.

In conclusion I say I trust to see all good sportsmen interested in the preservation of and increase of birds, fish and game animals, the betterment of laws conserving to this end, give this project of which I have tried to give a comprehensive synopsis, their unqualified support and adherence.

ORATORS WERE NO PROBLEM IN NORTHAMPTON

The Massachusetts' Stickmen Knocked
Mr. "Rube" Out of the Box and Batted Next Man Hard.

Northampton, May 25.—The Meadow Larks really got in a full game yesterday and to celebrate the event trounced Jim O'Rourke's Orators in good style 6 to 1. "Rube" Pollard started to pitch for the visitors but was replaced by Romer in the third inning after three hits had been made. Romer did well for the next five innings, though the hits of the home team and daring base running added a few more. Bridgeport secured 11 hits off Plank, but they were not bunched enough to do any harm. Plank also struck out eleven men. Wade in left field made two stellar throws to the bases nailing his men. For the visitors Bourquin and Koehler scored strong fielding games. The score:

AMATEUR BASEBALL

As a preliminary to the Crane Valve Co. No. 1 vs. Crane Valve Co. No. 2 Industrial league game at Crane Field, Saturday, the Crane Valve Co. No. 2 office team will play the No. 1 reserves. There will be great interest manifested in this battle, and money having already been wagered on the result. The No. 1 reserves are the first in the field with their batting order, this being, it is believed, to scare the No. 2 crowd. The batting order is herewith given: F. Rooney, c.; James Scane, lf. of the Cloyers, p.; J. H. Sullivan, formerly with the Shamrocks, r.f.; Blake, the crack of Winoke, p.; 11; Milo McLaughlin, the only living married second baseman in captivity, 2b.; Fred Millus, the future would be, 3b.; William Baxter, formerly with the Roses, ss.; Percy Russell, a dream of other days, c.f.; and Smiler Curran, the crack player secured from the Mollis, lf.

Besides this strong array of baseball talent, there will also be J. P. Diver, champion chain breaker of the world who will play the weak roster. Thomas Flynn, score keeper, assisted by the Apple sister, Seaside and Cora, as stenographers; A. Bodwell, as umpire; George Brady, trainer; Henry Lee, coacher, and Messrs. Connors and Callender, medical examiners.

Next Sunday at the Meadows the Equa Club and Carr's Night Riders will battle for supremacy at 10 o'clock. Special cars will leave the Meadows at 9:30 for the grounds. The Equas will bat them out as follows: F. Musante, 2b.; H. Becker, c.f.; W. Smith, ss.; J. Youngs, 1b.; T. Meath, c.; G. Garavanti, 2b.; Geo. Mara, captain, c.f.; and J. Kearns, r.f. The Night Riders have the following: D. Sweeney, c.; J. Mitchell, p.; E. Snader, captain, 3b.; T. Carr, 1b.; C. Jewett, 2b.; R. Nichols, ss.; C. Murphy, c.f.; C. Youngs, r.f., and D. Spafford, lf.

The Nukies have withdrawn from the Park City League and will jump to the Come Quick Club which is a new organization.

Don't think Hans Lund will play Sunday if he knows where Mike Lucas keeps that White Duck suit of his.

The Englishman never was a good fighter and Langford is one of the best. I'd like to see him fight Johnson but do not think they will get together," said Jeffries last night.
Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager, received a letter from Hugh McIntosh, the Australian fight promoter asking him not to close a match with Johnson without giving him a chance to bid for the fight. McIntosh wants them to fight in England or Australia. This Johnson refuses to do. He said that he can make just as much money fighting in his own country as he can in foreign lands. Jeffries and James Corbett will be seen as opponents again, but not as fighters. Jeff will organize a baseball team to-morrow composed of White Sox utility men and play against a nine organized by "Gentleman Jim." Jeff will play first and Corbett will twirl and play in the field.

"EASY MONEY" IS LANGFORD'S REMARK ON LAST FIGHT

(Special From United Press.)
London, May 25.—"It was about the easiest money I ever picked up," was one of Sam Langford's comments today on his fight last night with Ian Hague, the English heavyweight champion whom the Boston negro tucked away in the fourth round. The Brits haven't yet recovered from their surprise. They expect Langford to win—all except a bunch of Yorkshire fellows—but how Langford, who weighed but 160 pounds and was woefully "outsized" by Hague in every particular, could make the burly Briton look as though he had never been in a ring before, was more than the classed local sportsmen have yet comprehended.

Langford, heretofore estimated as one of the best in the business, is today believed by the London fighting fraternity to be the best man in the game, easily better than Jack Johnson. The Boston lad showed last night that size is no barrier and as this is believed to be the only advantage that Johnson has over Langford, the latter would carry the English money were he to fight Johnson. Langford was about town today showing but a few marks of his encounter, though Hague did land a number of pretty stiff wallops. But the hard punches never fazed Sam. The blow that ended the fight was one of Langford's celebrated rights to the chin, which put Hague into the realm of the deepest stupor.

All through the fight Langford peppered Hague with left jabs. Langford will likely journey down to Paris shortly and see a match with some of the heavies there, among whom are McVey, Barry, Ferguson and Jeanette. The preliminary bout was between "Jimmy" Walsh, the American, and "Digger" Stanley of London, which was declared a draw but non-partisan critics believe that Walsh had a clear advantage and should have been given the decision.

THE MAMMOTH PIANO SALE IS AT ITS HEIGHT

Yesterday Began the Third and Final Week of the Greatest Piano Saving Event Ever Held in this City.

THE PAST WEEK ANOTHER RECORD BREAKER

Big Results Had Been Anticipated But the Undreamed of Response Was Simply Staggering.

This is the last week. Now is the time for the backward ones to get right down to business and settle the piano subject at once and for all time.

Those who have delayed in order to "think the matter over a while," have now had plenty of time.

These pianos must be sold—it is a necessity with us—we don't care to store them when June first comes around and we must vacate.

We challenge any one to find values any where near the ones we are offering at our prices.

Hans takes a liking to it and Mike wants to look out for he is a good climber.

Some thing is going to happen with the Warner Bros. team if Mike Sweeney should not get a show to play next Saturday afternoon.

It's a good thing "Pop" Moran is the main squeeze in the Park City League or his Big Brother Mussey wouldn't have such a show to play. He might be good in some shop but he is no good in baseball. His lungs are very strong and that's how he gets by.

"Jack" Gallagher is awake at last and maybe they don't like his fancy playing. It takes a good man to save a lost game.

Wonder how the Lukes feel now after getting a trimming from the West End Boys. They thought they had lemons in the start of the game. Yes they did Not.

The Long Hills would like to play the Nukies next Sunday if the Nukies ished by Saturday, though the final may be called into Memorial Day. All week long there will be busy times at the club, a number of socials having been arranged in honor of the visiting players.
